The Death Penalty: List of Abolitionist and Retentionist Countries (1 January 2002)

April 2002

AI INDEX: ACT 50/002/2002

DISTR: SC/DP

More than half the countries in the world have abolished the death penalty in law or practice.

Attached is a list of countries and territories, indicating whether or not their laws provide for the death penalty. For abolitionist countries, information is also given, where available, on the date of abolition and the date of the last execution carried out; and for countries which have abolished the death penalty for all crimes, the date when it was abolished for ordinary offences if this was done before. (The date given for abolition is normally the date when the decision to abolish the death penalty was taken, but if that decision only came into effect several years later, the latter date is given.)

Also attached is a list of countries which have abolished the death penalty in law since 1976. It shows that in the past decade, an average of over three countries a year have abolished the death penalty in law or, having done so for ordinary offences, have gone on to abolish it for all offences.

As of 1 January 2002, the number of abolitionist and retentionist countries was as follows:

Abolitionist for all crimes	74
Abolitionist for ordinary crimes only	15
Abolitionist in practice	22
Total abolitionist in law or practice		111
Retentionist		84

Regular updates to the List of Abolitionist and Retentionist Countries are posted on the Amnesty International website, www.amnesty.org.
