Amnesty International reports & statements

Cuba: Freedom of expression still curtailed despite recent release. 6 November (AMR 25/009/2002).

Dr Oscar Elias Biscet, physician and human rights activist, was released after three years' imprisonment:

<http://web.amnesty.org/ai.nsf/index/AMR250092002>

Egypt: Stop systematic torture. 13 November (MDE 12/038/2002).

Everyone taken into detention in Egypt is at risk of torture, Amnesty International stated in a new report. In recent trials of police officers, forensic evidence has been presented to the courts noting that marks found on the bodies of detainees who had died in police custody were consistent with traces left by electric shocks and other forms of torture.

<http://web.amnesty.org/ai.nsf/index/MDE120382002>

UN: NGOs welcome new treaty to prevent torture. 7 November (IOR 40/038/2002).

Amnesty International, the Association for the Prevention of Torture, the International Commission of Jurists and Human Rights Watch applauded the adoption of the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against Torture. It will establish a system of regular visits to places of detention, which are an important tool in the prevention of torture.
