UA 186/08 Fear for safety/Death threats

COLOMBIA Members of the Medellín Youth Network (Red Juvenil de Medellín)

A paramilitary organization, the Aguilas Negras (Black Eagles), sent an email death threat to the youth organization Red Juvenil de Medellín (Medellín Youth Network) on 30 May.

The message read, "Death to anarchists disguised as pacifists, no more druggy concerts or communists, there are no more warnings" (Muerte a anarquistas disfrazados de pacifistas, no mas conciertos de drogas ni comunistas, no hay mas avisos).

Red Juvenil de Medellín works to empower young people to resist attempts by either side in the country's long-running internal armed conflict, the regular army and paramilitaries, or guerrilla groups, to recruit them. It promotes the principles of non-violence and the practice of conscientious objection.

The threatening e mail follows a concert against militarization organized by the Red Juvenil de Medellín on 17 May in the Obrero de Boston Park in the city of Medellín. The network organizes this concert every year to mark International Conscientious Objectors' Day. About 5, 000 young people went to the concert.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

In the course of Colombia's internal armed conflict, human rights organizations, trade unions and other social organizations have often been labelled guerrilla collaborators or supporters by government officials, as well as by the security forces and paramilitaries. These accusations have often led to attacks against human rights activists, such as the Red Juvenil de Medellín. Guerrilla groups have also threatened and killed human rights activists and trade unionists.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Please send appeals to arrive as quickly as possible, in Spanish or your own language:

- calling on the authorities to produce policy and plans, in conjunction with human rights defenders, to guarantee their safety according to the principles of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights and Responsibilities of Individuals, Groups and Institutions to Promote and Protect Universally Recognized Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, and to make these plans public.
