HOPE CAN’T BE QUARANTINED
HOW TO SUPPORT IMMIGRANTS AND ASYLUM-SEEKERS IN DETENTION DURING THIS TIME OF CRISIS

HOPE IN THE TIME OF COVID-19

In response to the COVID-19 outbreak, all across the Americas region public health experts, elected officials, and community leaders have asked all of us to practice “physical distancing” and severely limit the size of all gatherings. Schools, movies, restaurants, and places of worship have closed their doors, and much of our days is spent with our family, in our homes. We may feel alone, scared, anxious or just uncertain of what the future may bring.

For people in immigration detention facilities in the USA, Mexico, Canada, Trinidad and Tobago, and Curaçao, the isolation and risks they face has only been intensified. In these countries, tens of thousands of adults, families and children are being held in detention, simply because of their migration status. People in crowded detention facilities are some of the most at-risk of being exposed to COVID-19, and in many cases, have inadequate access to health care.

We know that in challenging times, we must lean on each other and find creative ways to stay connected. After partnering with Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Service (LIRS) on a campaign to send cards and letters of solidarity to immigrants and asylum-seekers detained in the USA, Amnesty International is calling on you to take this action on behalf of people in detention across the Americas, to remind them that they are not forgotten during these incredibly trying times. Help us light the lamp of hope across the region – from the tip of North America all the way down to the South.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY

WRITE a letter to someone in immigration detention, sharing a message of hope and helping them feel less isolated in this difficult time.

SHARE a picture or story of you writing letters on social media, tag @amnesty and @LIRSorg, and use #HopeCantBeQuarantined

WRITE A LETTER

STEP 1
Write one or more messages of hope and encouragement in English or another language – check out the special instructions from our partners on the next page to see what’s needed most. Consider including a drawing or poem for extra encouragement! Sign the card with your first name and city/state.

STEP 2
Place cards in individual BLANK envelopes. Place the blank envelopes in a larger envelope or box and send to the partner closest to you for speediest delivery. See p3 for a list of local partners.

STEP 3
Share on social media to amplify your letter(s) and this action. See p4 for additional guidance.
