WRITERS AND JOURNALISTS IN PRISON

NOVEMBER 1972

BANGLADESH

S.G.M. BADRUDDIN

Editor Morning News, Dacca; probably held on "collaboration" charge.

Salahuddin MOHAMMAD

Working for Pakistan Times, Lahore; probably held on "collaboration" charge.

MASWANI

Editor Chronicle, Chittagong; probably held on "collaboration" charge.

BRAZIL

Renato Ferreira NUNES

Journalist; held in special prison of the Marechal Caetano de Faria Regiment, Guanabara, Brazil; reported to have been suffering from a serious visual defect for many years which was recently operated and required special treatment. It is believed that he is held for exercising his right to uphold the freedom of the press. He was arrested in September 1970.

Paulo da Costa RAMOS

Journalist; accused of writing an article in June 1968 considered disrespectful to the authorities and harmful to national security. The case is being heard in Curitiba, Parana, Brazil.

Enio SILVEIRA

Date of arrest unknown; has been tried several times accused of publishing a book by Maia Neto entitled Brazil, Hot War. He is apparently no longer in prison but is being constantly harassed and periodically arrested. One trial finishes only to lead on to the laying of further charges against him.

CUBA

Angel CUADRA Landrove

Lawyer and poet; a man who always held literary interests, and in 1966 had been awarded a scholarship for a study of Spanish literature at the University of Madrid. In 1967 he was arrested for 'Activities against the State', and in May 1967 he was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment at a Military Tribunal in a War Counsel Summary Trial. The charges were ill defined, he was not given an opportunity for defence, and it appears that the substance of the charge may have been his desire to emigrate and reluctance to live in a Communist state. He has been held in Guanajay prison, from where he has sent several poems to Europe. Some of them are soon to be published in the magazine INDEX.
Ernesto DE LA FE Perez

Journalist and editor; he was Minister of Information under Fulgencio Batista from 1952 to 1954, but resigned the post after two years and by 1956 was actively opposed to the dictatorial regime. He was arrested in his office on 4th January 1959, only days after Fidel Castro's Revolution, he was accused of 'collaborating with the Batista Government' and sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment. He could by now be free, according to Cuban practice of releasing prisoners who have served three-quarters of their sentences and are over 50 years old (he is 56) but this requires a pledge to adhere to the doctrines of the Revolution which Sr. DE LA FE refuses to do because he cannot accept Communism. His wife and four children live in Havana. He is held, in very poor health, in Guanajay Prison.

Emilio Adolfo RIVERO Caro

Journalist and lawyer; arrested in April 1961, and in September 1961 he was formally sentenced to thirty years imprisonment for 'an attempt against the security of the state'. He was included in a wave of arrests that came in the first years after the revolution, and five of those convicted in his trial were sentenced to death. According to one of our contacts, RIVERO Caro had entered Cuba in 1961, to report for the New York Times on the Playa Giron invasion. He has, it appears, been held in Guanajay prison, since 1961.

ČESCHOSLOVAKIA

Jiri HOCHMAN

Aged 46; worked as a journalist on Rude Pravo, the official daily paper of the Czechoslovak Communist Party, and then from 1968 on Reporter, the weekly publication of the Czechoslovak Union of Journalists. He was very active in the reform movement in 1968. He was arrested in February 1972; the charges are unknown. After having suffered a stroke in prison, he was released provisionally for health reasons in July.

Ladislav KALINA

Film critic and satirical writer; aged 59. Professor at the Bratislava College of Fine Arts. He was arrested in February 1972 and tried in secret in July on charges of anti-socialist activity. He was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. His appeal was rejected in September. He is reported to be in very bad health.

Karel KOSIK

Aged 46; former professor of Philosophy at the Charles University in Prague. Apart from his academic writing, he was a regular contributor to the weekly journal of the Czechoslovak Writers Union, Literarni Noviny which became later Literarni Listy. In 1968 he became chairman of its editorial board. He signed a manifesto associating himself with the reform movement and later refused to recant. He was arrested in January 1972; has not yet been tried, and the charges are still unspecified. He has been released but is still undergoing interrogation.
Karel KYNCL

Journalist aged 45; radio and television commentator. He is a supporter of the reform movement and refused to abandon the cause after the Soviet invasion. He has had no permanent employment since October 1969. He was arrested in January 1972; tried in July and sentenced to 20 months' imprisonment on a charge of 'subversion'.

Jiri LEDERER

Aged about 49; prominent correspondent of Literarni Listy, the weekly published by the Czechoslovak Union of Writers. In 1968 he became one of the editors of the well-known radical political weekly, Reporter. He was arrested in January 1972 and sentenced in February to two years' imprisonment for 'defamation of a state of the World Socialist System and its representatives' — referring to his criticism of the Gomulka regime in Poland.

Vladimir NEPRAS

Aged 43; journalist on Rude Pravo, the official daily of the Czechoslovak Communist Party. He later became editor of the radical weekly Reporter, until its suppression in 1969. He was unemployed at the time of his arrest in January 1972. The charges are unknown. He was provisionally released in July on health grounds.

Vladimir SKUTINA

Author and television commentator. He was sentenced in February 1971 in Prague to 2 years' imprisonment for 'agitation', on a charge that he had written and planned to distribute two documents slandering the state. In June 1971 he was brought to trial again, charged with having insulted the First Secretary of the Czechoslovak Communist Party. His sentence was 4 years' imprisonment, replacing the earlier 2 year sentence.

EGYPT

Sayyid LOUTFI

Journalist and broadcaster, held since 1959 on charges of having broadcast anti-UAR government propaganda from Baghdad. He was sentenced to hard labour for life.

GREECE

Kostas FILINIS

Journalist; arrested in 1955, tried in 1960 and sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment. He was released in 1966 and re-arrested after the coup of April 1967. He is now serving a life sentence in Korydallos prison.

Alexios PAPALEXIOU

Former chief editor of a weekly paper which was financed by EDA (left-wing political party). He was arrested in May 1968 and tried a year later under Law 509 (Sedition). He was sentenced to life imprisonment and was in Aegina Prison — his sentence has been suspended for 6 months for health reasons.
Stylianos PERRAKIS

Publisher and poet from Crete; aged 63. He was sentenced to 15 months' imprisonment in November 1971 for publishing a collection of poetry containing 'shameful and insulting' references to Greek officers. The book was published last May, called Poetry for National and Social Amusements. He has a history of nervous breakdown resulting from hardship during student years and has had a nervous breakdown while under arrest.

Spyros PLASKOVITIS

Editor; former Judge in the Council of State and author of Nobel Prize-winning book, The Dam. He has also contributed to New Texts (published in 1971 in Athens). He was sentenced to 5 years' imprisonment for carrying anti-government tracts in a suitcase. He has now had his sentence suspended for one year on health grounds.

Alexandros ZOGRAFOS

Editor of Laidos Patridis. He was arrested on 21st July 1969, tried in March 1971 and sentenced to 19 years for sedition.
