

MARINEL SUMOOK UBALDO,

PHILIPPINES

SURVIVING CLIMATE CHANGE, DEMANDING DIGNITY

Marinel Sumook Ubaldo was 16 when she knew she had to fight to find a way to protect herself and her community from the disastrous effects of climate change. She survived the deadly Typhoon Yolanda in 2013 to become a leading youth activist, dedicated to ensuring governments around the world confront climate change and tackle its effects on her community, and others like them. Support Marinel.

Demand support for climate change survivors.

WRITE FOR RIGHTS

AMNESTY
INTERNATIONAL

WRITE A LETTER
CHANGE A LIFE