

You have a right to be taught your rights

Do you know what your rights are ?

Are human rights taught to you at school ?

Just like everyone else, governments also have to obey the law !

Remind your government that under international law they have a duty to teach you your rights

Human rights education {HRE} is the most important lesson of your life !

Knowing your rights is the 1st step to a life of justice and confidence.

Make sure you are given the chance to take that step - send a postcard to your government asking them to make sure HRE is taught as a priority in your school, regularly and properly.
