

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL MEDIA ADVISORY

Date: 5 April 2011
AI Index: MDE 18/002/2011

Thousands still missing 20 years after Lebanese civil war

The Lebanese government must act to investigate the fate of thousands of people still missing 20 years after the end of its brutal civil war, Amnesty International will say in a new report to be released on 14 April.

Never Forgotten: Lebanon's Missing People highlights how the disappearances have left affected families in a permanent state of limbo, and those responsible unaccountable.

For more information, contact the Amnesty International at press@amnesty.org or on +44 (0)207 413 5566.

END/