RWANDA Francois-Xavier Byuma (m)

Francois-Xavier Byuma was sentenced to 19 years' imprisonment on 27 May, for participating in weapons training during the 1994 genocide, after an unfair trial. He has lodged an appeal, which is due to be heard on 14 July, at the same court.

The judge who presided over the trial, at the gacaca community court in the Bilyogo secteur of the capital, Kigali, has been under investigation by François-Xavier Byuma's NGO, Turengere Abana (the Rwandan Association for the Protection and Promotion of the Child - l'Association Rwandaise pour la Protection et la Promotion de l'Enfant) as he is alleged to have raped a 17-year-old girl. The gacaca court is part of a nationwide community-based justice system intended to try those suspected of the 1994 genocide. The judge's conflict of interest denied Francois-Xavier Byuma his right to receive a fair trial before an independent and impartial tribunal.

Most of the testimony used during the trial was reportedly hearsay and, in some instances, contradictory. According to local sources, Francois-Xavier Byuma remained silent during the first hearing of the trial in protest at the judge's presiding over the trial. During the second hearing, he presented a defence. However, the judge reportedly cut him and other defence witnesses short as they were testifying. Francois Xavier-Byuma was also found guilty of charges that were not originally stated at the start of the trial, including the abduction and assault of a woman.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Amnesty International and other human rights organizations have raised serious concerns over the gacaca justice system, which fails to meet international standards for fair trial and lacks independence, impartiality and transparency. Article 4 of the Organic Law No 10/2007 of 01/03/2007 covers the dismissal of judges from gacaca courts. It clearly states that "Any person elected as a member of the organs for gacaca courts shall be replaced...[if he does] any act incompatible with the quality of a person of integrity."

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Please send appeals to arrive as quickly as possible, in English, French or your own language:

- expressing concern that François-Xavier Byuma has been sentenced to 19 years' imprisonment after an unfair trial by the gacaca court in the Bilyogo secteur of Kigali;
- urging the authorities to overturn the verdict and sentence passed on François-Xavier Byuma, and provide him with a retrial which complies fully with international standards for fair trial.
