MEDIA ADVISORY

Amnesty International researcher who has just returned from Sierra Leone available for interviews

Continuing human rights abuses by rebel forces in the north of the country are just some of the issues about which Amnesty International remains seriously concerned in Sierra Leone.

Amnesty International's researcher on Sierra Leone, Tessa Kordeczka, has just returned from a visit to that country which included research into the current human rights situation and meetings with several government officials.

Ms Kordeczka is available for interviews to share information about her recent trip. To arrange a convenient time please contact AI's Press Officer for Africa, Judit Arenas on +44 20 7 413 5808 or + 44 7778 472 119.
