EL HIBLU 3, MALTA

THEY OPPOSED TORTURE, NOW THEY FACE PRISON

They were three teenagers at sea, desperate to escape Libya's violence. When the rubber boat they and 100 others were in sank, they were rescued by oil transporter, the El Hiblu. They thought they were safe, but the El Hiblu tried to return them to Libya and almost certain torture. A protest ensued. The youths acted as interpreters to help preserve their lives and those of their fellow passengers. Now they're in the dock, facing a life sentence.

Demand justice for the El Hiblu 3.
