Further Information on UA 173/05 (MDE 31/010/2005, 23 June 2005) - Fear for safety/incommunicado detention/medical concern

YEMEN Ibrahim al-Saiani (m), aged 14

The health of 14-year-old Ibrahim al-Saiani is reported to have deteriorated in custody: he has begun to lose his memory, his hands tremble and he is unable to speak clearly. Ibrahim al-Saiani's family were first allowed to visit him in prison in August, and are now allowed weekly visits. However he remains detained without charge or trial and without access to legal counsel.

Amnesty International highlighted its concerns to the Yemeni authorities regarding during a mission to Yemen in September-October 2005, and sought assurances that Ibrahim al-Saiani was being given adequate medical attention. The Yemeni authorities were not able to confirm that he was receiving treatment. Amnesty International sought to visit Ibrahim al-Saiani at the Political Security (al- Amn al- Seyasi) prison in Sana'a but were not able to do so.

Ibrahim al-Saiani was reportedly arrested on 8 May after the security forces stormed his family home in the capital, Sana'a. He is held in the Political Security prison in Sana'a and may be a prisoner of conscience, held solely because he is one of the Zaidi community. Followers of Zaidi cleric Hussain Badr al-Din al-Huthi have shouted anti-American and anti-Israeli slogans after Friday prayers since the US-led invasion of Iraq in 2003, and this has led to a crackdown by the security forces in which hundreds of Zaidis are reported to have been arrested. President 'Ali 'Abdullah Saleh issued a pardon for followers of al-Huthi on 25 September, but hundreds of Zaidis remain detained without charge or trial.

A number of non-governmental organizations, and his family, are reported to have urged the President of Yemen to intervene in this case.
